

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A material-conveying air slide including a non-magnetic duct shell, a magnet mounted on the outside of the duct shell, and a steel pole piece protruding from the magnet through the duct shell into the duct. The pole piece modifies the magnetic field
5 such that an effective field substantially fills a cross-section of the duct at the pole piece.